

Policy for Equality and Diversity

May 2023

Purpose of this Policy

The purpose of this policy is to underpin our commitment to being a tolerant, understanding and compassionate community and to guide us in our endeavour to ensure that Ickford School welcomes all pupils and their families, members of staff, Trustees and people from the wider community and upholds our core values of kindness, respect, determination and honesty.

Our purpose is to promote equality and proactively tackle any forms of discrimination within our community and seek to remove any barriers to access, participation, progression, attainment and achievement. We recognise and celebrate diversity whilst endeavouring to promote community cohesion and positive relationships with parents, Trustees and the wider community.

In accordance with the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED) guidance we also take due regard to:

- Eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and other conduct that is prohibited by the Equality Act 2010.
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
- Foster good relations across all protected characteristics – between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.

Aims

- To value each child as an individual with special abilities, gifts and needs and to ensure that they have equal access to all aspects of school life and an enjoyable education regardless of gender, race, disability, socio-economic status or religious beliefs.
- To follow the guidance of the Equality Act 2010 by ensuring that we will not unlawfully discriminate against the protected characteristics of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race (including colour, nationality, and ethnic or national origin), religion or belief, sex (gender) and sexual orientation.
- To create a stimulating yet orderly and safe environment conducive to learning in which all children are encouraged to be creative, independent and confident, lifelong learners
- To foster an environment that allows for creative and dynamic teaching where every member of staff feels valued and supported and has the opportunity for professional self-development recognising the protected characteristics of the Equality Act 2010.
- To oppose and avoid all forms of unlawful discrimination. This includes in pay and benefits, terms and conditions of employment, dealing with grievances and discipline, dismissal, redundancy, leave for parents, requests for flexible working, and selection for employment, promotion, training or other developmental opportunities
- To work in partnership with parents, the community and local primary and secondary schools embracing trust, understanding and mutual support
- To provide a safe and nurturing environment that allows for the development of the academic, cultural, physical, moral, spiritual and social dimensions of each pupil regardless of gender, race, disability, socio-economic status or religious beliefs.
- To promote integrity, honesty and self-respect in each pupil and develop compassion, tolerance and respect for others.

Legal Requirements

The Equality Act 2010 legally protects people from discrimination in the workplace and in wider society. It replaced previous anti-discrimination laws with a single Act and, as far as schools are concerned, its purpose is to ensure that they cannot discriminate against pupils because of their gender, race, disability, religious belief, sexual orientation or socio-economic status.

This policy is based on the requirements of the Equality Act and takes into account the advice of the Children's Rights Alliance for England (CRAE) <http://www.crae.org.uk/media/26308/CRAE-Equality-Act-2010-guide.pdf>

What is a discriminatory incident?

Harassment on grounds of race, gender, disability, sexual orientation or other factors such as socio-economic status, can take many forms including verbal or physical abuse, name calling, exclusion from groups and games, unwanted looks or comments, jokes and graffiti.

A racist incident is defined by the Stephen Lawrence Inquiry Report (1999) as: 'any incident which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person'.

Protected Characteristics

Pupils with protected characteristics may be disadvantaged for social or economic reasons or for reasons to do with past or present discrimination. The Equality Act (2010) contains provisions which enable schools to act to tackle the particular disadvantage, different needs or disproportionately low participation of a particular pupil group, provided certain conditions are met.

These are known as the positive action provisions and allow (but do not require) schools to take proportionate action to address the disadvantage faced by particular groups of pupils. Such action could include targeted provision, resources or putting in place additional or bespoke provision to benefit particular disadvantaged pupil group.

Positive action is intended to be a measure that will allow schools to provide additional benefits to some pupils to address disadvantage and is not the same as positive discrimination. Positive discrimination would be providing preferential treatment for a particular disadvantaged pupil group that exceeded the positive action conditions.

It is never unlawful to treat disabled pupils (or applicants) more favourably than non-disabled pupils (or applicants). That is, a school is permitted to positively discriminate in favour of disabled pupils (applicants).

Types of discriminatory incident

Types of discriminatory incidents that can occur are:

- Physical assault against a person or group because of their colour, ethnicity, nationality, disability, sexual orientation or gender.
- Use of derogatory names, insults and jokes.
- Racist, sexist, homophobic or discriminatory graffiti.
- Provocative behaviour such as wearing racist, sexist, homophobic or discriminatory badges or insignia.
- Bringing discriminatory material into school.
- Verbal abuse and threats.
- Incitement of others to discriminate or bully due to victim's race, disability, gender or sexual orientation.
- Discriminatory comments in the course of discussion.
- Attempts to recruit others to discriminatory organisations and groups.
- Ridicule of an individual for difference e.g. food, music, religion, dress etc.
- Refusal to co-operate with other people on grounds of race, gender, disability or sexual orientation.
- Demonstrating bias or preferential treatment towards potential employees founded on race, gender, disability or sexual orientation.

Prevention of discriminatory incidents

The School shall endeavour to prevent any incidents of discrimination by ensuring that:

- This policy is public, available, known and understood.
- All pupils and staff recognise the priority placed on being good citizens and our values of kindness, respect, honesty and determination.
- Every member of the staff must act as positive role models for children when expressing any beliefs or behaviours towards others.

Equality Statement (To be included on all policies)
